The Rockport Shore

THE weather has been delightfully cool during the week, not too much so—a suspicion of early September in the air. The coming two weeks bringing us to Labor Day will round out a very good season for this section all things considered. The first open golf tourney at the Country Club Friday and Saturday was quite a success, so much so that it is planned to have an invitation tournament in September. The committee, of which A. Perley Chase is chairman and Charles F. Adams, secretary, is doing its best to put Rockport on the golf map.

Dr. Heidelburger of the Rockefeller Institute, New York and Mrs. Heidelburger are at Straitsmouth Inn.

Mrs. C. E. Birdsall of New Rochelle, N. Y. is at Straitsmouth Inn again this year.

Mrs. R. M. Silby of London, Eng. is at Turk's Head Inn.

George Thatcher of Dorchester, well known among the summer colony at Land's End and a brother of Mrs. Charles Liffier, Jr., passed away at his home last Wednesday at the age of 55 years.

Charles Burgess, Jr. is the new golf instructor at the Rockport County Club.

Mrs. A. C. Phiebes and daughters Marion and Alice Hadley of St. Louis have arrived at Turk's Head Inn for the summer.

Mrs. Ralph Clifford of Monson, Mass. has arrived at her cottage, Pigeon Cove for the rest of the season.

Thomas Hale and family of Medford Hills are occupying their bungalow, High street, and are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benson of Bridgewater.

Misses Irene Shaw, Bertha De Angelis and Eleanor Woods of Boston are at "Sea View Farm," South street for a vacation stay.

Miss Catherine Murray, Mrs. John Burns, Clarence Burns of Dorchester, Miss Clara Carroll of Roxbury, Richard Dodd of Dorchester, Paul Brown of Brooklyn, N. Y. and Mr. Davidson of Boston are at Mrs. George B. Grimes, Main street.

Rev. Delmar E. Trout, pastor of the Universalist church at Brattleboro, Vt. and family are enjoying themselves with his wife's mother, Mrs. Clara R. Littlefield, King street. He has been entertaining his father, A. P. Trout of Springfield, O. at the Granite Shore.

Mrs. K. McCarthy of Washington and Miss L. S. Rackerman of Paris, France are at Turk's Head Inn.

East Gloucester

APPARENTLY war time or war time scares had no effect at East Gloucester after the second week of July. The place is overflowing with all its old time life and spirit. Quite a volume of building operations are projected including many additions and changes of importance. The outlook here is for growth by leaps and bounds. With the coming of peace, whenever that may be, and security, this place is in for the biggest building boom on the North coast.

So much interest in relief work has been manifested by the guests of the Rockaway that it was decided to form a unit for the French Relief, to be known as the Rockaway unit. A

Magnolia

SOME 35 years ago William Morris Hunt, the artist, whose studio occupied the site of the Davis garage, painted a huge clock face over the observatory in the second story where he did most of his work and in place of the figures had letters which spelled "Now Is The Time," the modern variation of which is "Do It Now." Work was his motto and Today the time. Of all the artists who flocked to Cape Ann during that period Hunt's name is one of the few that endures. His observatory, reached by a gangway from the southwest corner of the house, was made secure from intrusion by a portcullis which he pulled up while at work. Opposite

The Annisquam Region

THE season at Annisquam has been a very successful one. Like other sections of the Cape the place was affected very lightly by the July falling off in summer resort patronage. This is because Annisquam is a cottage section largely and the hotels are the homes of those who have made their homes here for a number of years and regard these houses as their summer habitat. From a yachting standpoint it has been the liveliest place along the North Shore.

Mrs. Caroline Emery and granddaughter, Miss Mazola Stevens of Gardner arrived Monday and are occupying the R. O. C. cottage at Diamond Cove.

Arrivals at the Brynmere: Mrs. George T. Angell, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Brook, Perry Brook, Brookline; Charlotte Johnson, Concord; Grace F. Lamb, Caroline D. Affeld, Eda E. Affeld, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Smith, Chicago; Frederick E. Whitaker, Woonsocket; Miss Sarah B. Fisk, Montgomery, Ala.; Joseph Barry, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Kammerer, Lynn; Mrs. S. W. Schloss, Mrs. M. Marks, New York City; Miss Pauline Jones, Mrs. A. T. Ames, Cambridge; Mrs. J. P. Hamilton, Miss May Hamilton, Worcester; Mrs. Marion Noyes, Somerville; Harrison Hubbard, East Orange, N. J.; A. Purdy, New York; Frank Reynolds, Mrs. F. Reynolds, Marion Reynolds, Arthur Reynolds, Winchester; Flora Matthews, Louise Matthews, Scranton, Pa.; Payson A. Jones, Newton Highlands.

An interesting feature of service at the Lanesville Congregational Church Sunday was the christening of two children of the summer colony. They were David Gower Doughty, child of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Wolseley Doughty of Melrose Highlands, and Richard Morris Steer, the child of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Steer of Boston.

Recent arrivals at Wonesquam Lodge: Robert T. Fisher, C. S. Allen, Mrs. C. S. Allen, Miss Katherine Allen, Mr. R. Ruelberg, Mrs. R. Ruelberg, Mrs. Esther Gossnor, Miss Helen Gossnor, Miss Alta Piper, Boston; Mr. Horace Barney, New York; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gottwald, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Bigelow, child and nurse, St. Davids, Pa.; C. F. Rheims, Mrs. Wm. C. Rheims, Miss Alice Lang, Cambridge; Mrs. C. H. Cook and daughter, Miss Pride, Miss Mary very enthusiastic meeting was held at the hotel recently at which Mrs. N. H. Jackson of Brookline was elected chairman; Mrs. James Fulton, a prominent Chicago society leader, treasurer, and Miss Margaret Anderson of Detroit, secretary. A very substantial sum was quickly subscribed by guests. Materials for making supplies were purchased with this money. Through the courtesy of Commodore Colby and members of the house committee the Yacht Club was secured in which to hold the meeting. Four sewing machines have been installed and Mrs. Wallace Brackett of Brookline and Mrs. N. D. Wooldridge of Newton are in charge of the cutting; Mrs. Clarence Smith of Germantown, Pa. and Mrs. J. H. With practically two-thirds of the month gone the season is approaching September. Life here centers at the Oceanside and the North Shore Grille which have presented a lively aspect for several weeks past. The coming weeks promise to find these activities at their zenith.

Mrs. John Hays Hammond will depart Monday for New York on business connected with the war relief activities with which she has been connected since the outbreak of the war.

The annual lawn party and dance of St. Joseph's parish was held Thursday on the grounds of Mrs. John Chane. Among the attractions was a special feature, a genuine "Barn

TO ADVERTISERS

THE CAPE ANN SHORE, now in its twenty-first consecutive season, is the only summer resort publication on Cape Ann. It reaches every section of the cape, and is the only means of communication of the kind between the merchants and the summer residents. Therefore its value as an advertising medium is self-evident. It contains each week a full and complete account of the social happenings of the summer resort section. It occupies a place by itself in the advertising field, reaching the most profitable customers along the North Shore. Advertisers should remember these facts.

PRINTED AT THE OFFICE OF THE BARRY PRINTING COMPANY, SALEM, MASS.

A Fair Dealing Magnolia Firm

Recently and for several years past THE SHORE has contended that those Magnolia dealers who came here in summer, set up a display of large stocks and reaped a financial harvest thereby should be made to pay a fair share of taxation for the privilege. We referred principally to out-of-the-state dealers.

The ground was that local merchants with whom these men come in competition had been taxed heavily for years for sums which have gone to make Magnolia in common with other sections of the North Shore very desirable and have tended to attract the wealthy summer people from whom these dealers derive much business.

The construction of the state highway from Gloucester to Magnolia, including the cutting of Sawyer's hill the greater part of which has been borne by the city, the construction of a double water supply system by which in the event of an accident to one trunk, Magnolia (and Magnolia alone) is assured of an independent connection and water supply, the construction of Hesperus avenue, the installation of ample fire protective and police service and other comforts and conveniences which go to make this section desirable have all been paid for by the local taxpayer. It goes without debate that those who derive commercial or social benefit should pay a fair share of the cost. For it is obviously unfair to tax one class and exempt another which is deriving much more financial benefits than those on whom the burden of these improvements fall.

THE SHORE in former issues has taken the position that all such revenue collected should be turned back into Magnolia for its improvements, roadbeds, lighting, or whatever the sentiment the residents may suggest. This is certainly a fair proposition. These dealers under this scheme would help pay for improvements of the locality from which they derive big profits.

The opposition of these dealers to the payment of this tax or license fee is a subject which all concerned are thoroughly familiar. Recently THE SHORE in commenting upon the latest developments in this situation gave it as its opinion that such opposition or tax evasion was not good business and that it repelled the sympathy of the class of people—the summer residents—on whom these stores relied for patronage. This position is endorsed by several of the more reputable firms doing business at Magnolia. Among them is the firm of Lamson & Hubbard one of the largest of its kind in the country, the membership of which is composed of New England men doing business in accordance with New England ideas of commercial honesty and fair dealing. We commend the following letter which is self-explanatory to the thoughtful consideration of all concerned:

BOSTON, MASS., August 8, 1917.

Very truly yours,

We repeat it would be good business and we emphasize the word "business" for every dealer at Magnolia to meet the city half-way in this matter. The city authorities do not propose to be extortionate nor have they been so. The Municipal Council proposes to go before the Legislature the coming fall and bring this matter before that body recommending an extension of the law to cover cases of this nature whereby the time when assessors may levy taxation on stocks of goods shall be extended from April 1 to November 1. Under such a law there will be no escape from such taxation. In this council, thoroughly in earnest in this fight, are two of the widest known and weightiest labor leaders in this section, Aldermen Silva and Poole and their influence will be felt in this matter in the bailiwick of every representative and senator in this state. Both of these men are in line for the mayoralty.

Thoughts On A Bathing Beach

(C. P. McEvoy, in Chicago Tribune.)

I sit upon the shining sand
Beside the sounding sea,
And sights I cannot understand
Come fitting o'er the lea—
Ungainly sights which give me pain
In my anatomye.

Long, lean, and lanky gnarled legs
With knots upon the knees,
And trunks like piccolos or kegs
Come wafting thru the breeze,
And arms like reeds and hands like hams—
I gaze on all of these.

Yon woman in her bathing suit
Upon the shining sand,
When on the street I thought her cute
And now upon the strand
Where are those lissome, luscious curves?
I cannot understand.

And yonder man—if man it is—
I saw him yesterday,
And marveled at his beauteous phiz—
And watched his shoulders sway—
But now within that bathing suit
His shoulders—where are they?

And so upon the shining sand
Beside the brimming brine
I sit and watch those ghastly sights
And painful thoughts are mine—
I sit and wonder why it's called together. A very attractive poster giving the time and place of the meetings hangs in the lobby of the hotel. This is the work of the artists Frederick Grant and Stanley Jack of Chicago.
"The human form divine."

At the last meeting it was voted to turn all supplies in to the Gloucester Branch of the French Relief of which Mrs. Isaac Patch is president. During the hours of meeting very interesting papers from the front are read by Mrs. N. H. Jackson.

Among the week's arrivals at the Rockaway is Mrs. John Compton, (born Dorothy Fulton) of Chicago. Mrs. Compton spent several seasons here before her marriage. She made the trip from Detroit with her brother, Mr. James Fulton, who is a well known newspaper man of Detroit, in his large touring car.

Late Hawthorne Inn arrivals:—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Montgomery, Miss Montgomery, New York; Dr. H. N. Squires, Utica; Miss Kuhne, New York City; M. Ellis Talbott, Richmond; Louis De Cazenove, Wilmington; Mrs. Henry W. Hall, Edgewater Park, N. Y.; Miss Helen Shaler, New York City; Mrs. A. G. Rogers, Miss E. A. On Tuesday evening, Nelson H. Grover with his pathoscope motion picture machine entertained an appreciative audience in the amusement parlor of the Ocean View with the antics of Charlie Chaplin and other stars. This was Mr. Grover's second appearance here this season.

A Frick StoryNoted North Shore Summer Resident Was Once Poor

The habit of working hard was contracted very early by Henry Clay Frick, the millionaire "coke king," whose summer palace at Pride's Crossing is one of the sights of the North Shore. His mother had incurred the ire of her father, Abraham Overholt, the richest man in Western Pennsylvania, for marrying an impecunious young farmer of Swiss descent, John W. Frick. The daughter, indeed, was looked upon as the black sheep of the family for having designed to marry for love when a money-match could doubtless have been arranged. It was at West Overton, Pa., says Leslie's Weekly, that Henry Clay Frick was born, on December 19, 1849.

On his parents' small farm near by, the children had to help to the limit of their strength. Before he was eight little Henry had learned how to drop corn, help in the harvest field, tend cattle and perform a hundred varieties of chores. So badly were his services needed in the earning of the family living that he was allowed to go to school only in the winter months.

Mrs. Washington B. Thomas opened her summer home, "Netherfield," at Prides Crossing at four Saturday afternoon for the last of a series of concerts for the benefit of the Red Cross. The event was largely attended. The special artist was Hans Ebell, a young Russian pianist and composer, who played among other selections one of his own compositions in manuscript. Miss May Fay sang two groups of songs.

Among those on the committee were Mrs. Washington B. Thomas, Mrs. Henry C. Clark, Miss Harriet Dexter, Prides Crossing; Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Jr., Manchester; Mrs. Neil Rantoul, Beverly Farms; Miss Louisa P. Loring, Prides Crossing.

Miss Eleanor Sears is expected to exhibit her late purchase, Radiant, at the Newport Horse Show the last of the month. This beautiful chestnut saddler has won five championships and should capture another at the Casino.

The North Shore Economy League is the latest auxiliary to the local Red Cross work which has been organized by Miss Elizabeth Gunn, Miss Lila Lancashire and Miss Charlotte Read who have laid out plans of collecting material that may readily be converted into cash for the use of the Red Cross. Contributions of waste paper, and such material as junk dealers purchase, and trucks have been secured which, purchased by Boy Scouts, will make weekly house to house collections, the material being left at a central depot where it will be taken by a dealer. The collection will also include books and magazines that will be sent to the camps and hospitals. The local section has been given in charge of Miss Dora M. Marshall and Claudia R. Wilson.

Valerio Giacuto came down to Singing beach Sunday from Boston made application for a room at the bath house and was refused whereupon he declared his intention of disrobing on the beach. The caretaker, Patrick Kelleher, forbade this but the man persisted and going to the further end of the beach, disrobed, but he was prepared with a bathing suit under his outer clothing. However Kelleher was after him and placed him under arrest, locking him in the telephone booth until the arrival of the police. Being unable to furnish bail he was held until Monday a. m. when he was taken to court, being found guilty with a suspended sentence.

Work has been commenced on widening and improving the entrance to Jersey lane, taking the land formerly occupied by Daron W. Morse' house.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Reed, Jr., are at White Plains, N. Y., visiting the former's parents. Mrs. Reed was Miss Edith Fabyan.

Miss Charlotte Read is contemplating taking up some branch of Red Cross work in France soon.

Mr. E. C. Fitch, Jr., is leaving next week for Montreal, where he will join the Canadian troops. Mrs. Fitch has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Julian Fairchild at Glencove, L. I.

Sidney Booth, wife and daughter were in town this week motoring from New York.

Dr. J. H. Lancashire and family have been on a visit to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Carr have arrived at their cottage.

When Hammond Fought Indians

Famous Local Resident had Thrilling Time with Mexican Indians Once

John Hays Hammond, Sr., of this city has added more than any other man to the world's supply of gold and silver; in other words, the mining engineer, who has a beautiful summer estate in this city, has taken more wealth out of the earth than any other person living. And in doing this he has had some thrilling adventures. In his series of articles on "Men Who Are Making America," in Leslie's Weekly, B. C. Forbes tells this exciting story of Mr. Hammond's experiences among savages:

Hammond's first professional trip into alien soil proved perilous. He was commissioned in 1882 to penetrate into Mexico, some 250 miles from Guaymas. On landing on the Mexican west coast from a sailing boat chartered to carry mining machinery, Hammond found that the Apache Indians were on the war path and that the long journey to the interior by stage would have to be done under cover of darkness. The first night out the drunken driver upset the coach, one man sitting opposite Hammond was killed and another so hurt that he died the next morning.

Conditions improved sufficiently to warrant Mrs. Hammond joining her husband. The second day after she arrived at Guaymas with a young baby, a revolution broke out. Hammond promptly commandeered a small house, barricaded it and prepared to defend the fort, which was besieged by brigands, but he had learned in California to use a gun with the best of them, and the besiegers, discerning this, departed after a few days. During the long journey to the interior, the party came upon a village which the Indians had cleaned out completely.

How near the Indians might be or how soon they might appear on the scene no one could guess. If the Indians found the little American party, it meant its annihilation.

Fifty miles of dangerous territory had to be covered. Armed to the teeth Hammond rode a mile or two ahead, signalling to the team. Mrs. Hammond had a pistol, with which to commit suicide before submitting to capture. However the destination to Alamos, in Southern Sonora, was reached safely.

Mrs. Hammond stayed until the poor food began to undermine the health of the child. Mr. Hammond remained until he had the mine on a profitable basis and everything worked smoothly. Before he was ready to depart, revolutionists seized the mine at Alamos, the only one on the western coast, and began to rob and cheat the company wholesale, refusing to pay the full amount for the bullion deposited. Hammond conceived the plan of accumulating the silver, and then slipping away with it, deliver it to the American consul at Guaymas.

He had trained ten Yaqui Indians to shoot, and by their loyal assistance, had been able to resist attacks by ten times as many Mexicans at critical times. Loading picked mules with 150 pounds of silver each, and taking the trusted Yaqui Indians into his confidence, Hammond bolted one night in a terrible thunder storm, when no Mexicans were about.

A relay of mules was in readiness seventy miles away, and by travelling all that night and next day, Hammond got a good start. When about 100 miles from Alamos Hammond found that the Yaqui Indians of the neighborhood were on the war path against the Mexicans and that the Apache Indians were up in arms against the Americans. There were Apaches to the right, Yaqui Indians to the left and Mexicans in the rear, all on the rampage, thirsting for the blood and the plunder of the North American intruder, the only white man in all the company. The ten faithful Yaquis stood by him and landed him safely at Guaymas.

The attention of all automobilists is called to the following provisions of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts Relative to Motor Vehicle Laws, Acts of 1909, Chap. 534, Section 14:

SECTION 14. Every person operating a motor vehicle shall bring the vehicle and the motor propelling it immediately to a stop when approaching a horse or other draft animal being led, ridden or driven, if such animal appears to be frightened and if the person in charge thereof shall signal so to do; and, if travelling in the opposite direction to that in which such animal is proceeding, said vehicle shall remain stationary so long as may be reasonable to allow such horse or animal to pass; or, if travelling in the same direction, the person operating shall use reasonable caution in thereafter passing such horse or other animal. In approaching or passing a car of a street railway which has been stopped to allow passengers to alight or embark, the operator of every motor vehicle shall slow down and if it be necessary for the safety of the public he shall bring said vehicle to a full stop. Upon approaching a pedestrian who is upon the travelled part of any way and not upon a sidewalk, or where the operator's view is obstructed either upon approaching an intersecting way or a curve or corner in a way, every person operating a motor vehicle shall slow down and give a timely signal with his bell, horn or other device for signalling.

Provided, that in the thickly settled parts of a city or town no bell, horn or other device for signalling shall be sounded so as to make a harsh objectional or unreasonable noise, except in the case of fire and police department vehicles and ambulances; and provided, further, that no operator of any motor vehicle shall at any time permit any unreasonable amount of smoke to escape from said motor vehicle, nor shall said operator at any time permit said motor vehicle to make any unnecessary noise, by cutting out the muffler, or otherwise.

The driver of any motor vehicle on any highway approaching a crossing of ways, shall slow down and keep to the right of the intersection of the centres of both ways, when turning to the right, and shall pass to the right of the intersection of the centres of said ways before turning to the left.

Per Order, DANIEL S. CASEY, City Marshal.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Thummel of New York are spending August at the Harbor View. Mr. Thummel is connected with the law department of the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Barnes of Montclair, N. J. are spending a few weeks at the Harbor View.

An attractive seven-room cottage of stucco and wood has just been completed on Ledge road for C. Lawrence Smith of New York City, and the family has just taken occupancy of the house. There are four bed rooms and two baths. A large living room, 29 x 18 feet, is prettily finished in gray tone. There are beams and a large open fire place. The location of the house is very slightly on the elevation near the Spalding and Atwood estates, affording a splendid view of country and the sea beyond. Mrs. E. A. Perkins and Miss Clara Crawford Perkins of New York, mother and sister of Mrs. Smith are residing with the Smiths.

An interesting and enjoyable musical program was given on Saturday evening at Hotel Rockaway by the Misses Gladys and Arminda Duguo and Miss Helen MacDonald of Gloucester. Miss MacDonald who possesses a sweet contralto voice rendered "His Lullaby" by Carrie Jacobs-Bond and "Angus MacDonald" by Roeckel. Miss Gladys Duguo rendered finely the Chopin Waltz in E Minor and Miss Arminda Duguo played two violin numbers, "The Blue Bells of Scotland" with variations by Farmer, and "Meditation" by Franconier, displaying very creditable technique. The musicians responded to encores.

The Annisquam Region

The College Woman's club of Gloucester extends a cordial invitation to any of the summer colony to attend its August meeting the 24th of this month.

Any woman who has been, or is now in college, or just entering, is invited to bring a picnic lunch to the home of Miss Nancy Flagg, Wellesley, '93, at the Barnacle, Annisquam, at 6.30, Friday the 24th.

After supper Miss Helen Gray Cone, Professor of English of Hunter College, New York, and author of "A Chant of Love for England," "Soldiers of the Light" and other poems, has kindly consented to read from her own work.

Realizing that some of the resorts of Gloucester are at a distance from Annisquam, the College club will be pleased to receive any friend, a guest may bring with her.

The largest card party of the week given at The Barnacle was on Thursday. With true southern hospitality, Misses Helen and Lucy Quarles, Mrs. J. G. Farland of Richmond, Va. entertained their guests. Mrs. W. A. Rice of New Haven, Mrs. Samuel Gordon and Mrs. Warren Bailey of St. Louis, Miss Morrison and Miss Fergusson, Mrs. Edward Hartzhorn, Mrs. Moir of Scotland, Mrs. George C. Andrew, Mrs. Albert Amée of North Cambridge, Mrs. George Harper of Cincinnati, Mrs. George Wood of Winchester. The prizes were taken by Mrs. Hartzhorn, Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Bailey.

Magnolia

Miss Constance Williams of Winchester is the guest of her cousin, Miss Susan Williams, Magnolia avenue.

Mrs. William Nelson of Kansas City has returned from a motor trip in Maine to her summer house in Lobster Lane.

The program at the North Shore Swimming pool comprises music by an orchestra from the North Shore Grill Tuesday and Saturday afternoons; bridge Wednesday with the usual diversions afforded by the pool. The officers for the year comprise the Rev. Dr. Charles Wadsworth, Jr., president; H. H. Stevens, treasurer; Otis Weld Richardson, secretary, and directors, Costello C. Converse, W. H. Coolidge, Arthur M. Jones, Dr. J. H. Lancashire, C. F. Penhallow, E. Prescott Rowe, S. S. Stevens, J. Harrington Walker and George S. Willett.

Never in the history of the North Shore Grille has it attained the popularity of the present season including the exclusive and representative people of the North Shore. Last Saturday night Managing-Proprietor Del Monte and staff were taxed to their utmost to accommodate the patrons, more than 400 of whom were entertained on that occasion. This Saturday night the reservations call for an equally large number and the outlook is for a constantly increasing clientele until late into September. Among those who entertained six or eight were Mrs. Mitton, Mrs. B. Straw, Mrs. A. B. Kimball, Mr. W. Walker, Mr. Nicholson, fourteen; Mr. W. H. Pear, Mr. Alsopp, Mr. Herman, Mr. G. Anderson, Mrs. Lockwood, Mr. Rand, Mrs. Hayes, ten; Mrs. Middleton, Mrs. Blair, ten; Mr. Chapin, Mr. Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Farrel of Eastern Point were hosts to a party including Mr. John G. Farrel, Mrs. G. Long, Miss Long, Dr. L. W. Gordon, Miss Brooks, H. B. Bryce, J. W. Sweeney and Mrs. Donovan.

Others entertaining were Walter F. Simpson, Mrs. Walter Tufts, Miss E. Printerelli, John

Erickson, Miss May West, Senor Jose Harras, D. B. Hussey. A pleasing feature was the singing by Miss Christine Miller the opera singer, of "The Old Folks at Home," Stephen Foster's American classic which was received with enthusiastic applause.

Magnolia Flagpole Permit Refused

At a meeting of the Municipal Council, Thursday, a hearing was given B. Manfred Thornburg of Magnolia on his petition for leave to erect a flagpole in the sidewalk fronting his place of business in Magnolia square.

It was opposed by Otis Weld Richardson representing the Magnolia Improvement Society. Mr. Richardson said that it presented a dangerous obstruction in the traveled way and that the object of the society among others had been to get rid of all pole nuisances. If it were thought expedient to erect a flagpole for patriotic reasons there was a fine location twenty yards away in the plot of ground owned by the city in the square.

He was in somewhat of a quandary in presenting his case he said from the fact that while a permit was asked the pole was already set.

Mr. Thornburg who was in the uniform of the state guard was present. He presented quite a trig and soldierly appearance and spoke in a marked Scandinavian or Teutonic accent. Mayor Stoddard asked him if it were true that the flagpole had been installed to which Mr. Thornburg replied that it had. "Then why the use of applying for this hearing if you have gone ahead and taken the law in your own hands?" asked the mayor. Mr. Thornburg protested that he had been given to understand that it would be all right to do so, finally admitting that he understood that no such permit could legally be granted. On motion of Alderman Silva the applicant was given unanimous leave to withdraw.

Mr. Richardson took exception to a remark of Mr. Thornburg which was construed as reflecting upon the patriotism of Mr. Richardson. The latter said he had a brother in the training camp at Boxford, a brother-in-law in France with the troops and near relatives engaged in the war. Mr. Thornburg said he had not meant to be so understood.

"The Gallery On The Wharf"

An exhibition of Gloucester artists was opened today and will be continued for some time at a warehouse of Col. C. F. Wonsom at Rocky Neck which bears the above title.

This is the third exhibition of paintings by resident artists given under the auspices of the Cape Ann Sculptor and Literary Association. Many of the painters are widely known and some of them have been the recipients of signal honors.

Gloucester feels proud of this group of artists who like some other noted people feel that the very associations with this sturdy seafaring people is conducive to the highest and most enduring aspirations.

They live the life and draw their inspirations from its very soul, inducing a responsive appreciation both genuine and sincere. Their art seems to be of the most substantial character. They see too much beauty in the lines of a vessel to allow themselves to ignore them, and why should not a beautiful form even in a ship demand the same attention as a beautiful nude figure.

This is not a group of Saturday afternoon artists. They are professionals, capable no doubt of doing the bombastic and erratic things which they know to be but transitory fads, not serious or enduring. The citizens of Cape Ann will take much interest in the exhibition which is as much for their benefit as it is for the summer colony.

Fernwood, Woodward Avenue

Mrs. Mary Smith and family of Brookline are occupying their Woodward avenue cottage. Capt. and Mrs. Richard H. Marchant are again occupying a cottage on the avenue.

George D. Winchester and family of the city proper are established in their new bungalow.

Theodore Rowe and family of Manchester are occupying their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Toppan of Manchester are occupying "Edgemarsh" their new cottage.

Salvation Army Outing

Next Wednesday, August 22d, the Salvation Army will give its annual outing to children at Long Beach. An added feature this year will be the inclusion of old people and shut-ins. For this purpose automobile transportation is desired for the old and helpless. All who care to contribute in any way may address Adj. Gunn, Salvation Army, Duncan street, city.

The Week's Racing at Annisquam

The old Ventus, renamed the Hurrah, shipped west from here several years ago and repurchased by Commodore Harry H. Wiggin and shipped east in a box car again made her appearance on the eastern coast in Saturday's race in the 15-foot class. Since going west she has achieved the championship of her class on the lakes.

The wind was light from the eastward and the course was to Ipswich buoy and back. A thick fog bank rolled in the middle of the bay and obscured objects so much that Commodore Wiggin who was at the helm in the Ventus and who had secured a good lead, overtook the mark quite a piece on the run down so much so that he was obliged to make quite a beat to round and in so doing he lost ground to those astern who had been more fortunate in picking up the buoy. The Nisan rounded the buoy first handily and established a lead which she maintained on the windward work to the close, the Tabasco getting into second place.

In the 15-foot class, Priscilla Smith in the Hawk got the advantage of the start and rounded the Essex buoy first. On the long and short hitch home the boat fell back temporarily to second place but regained the leading position by good seamanship when coming into the river. The summary:

Sunday morning's race, the third and concluding of the team racing in the combined bird and cat classes was a whole, unsatisfactory. A very light wind came from the northwest, flattening out frequently, leaving the boats bobbing up and down on the water. As a result the slowest time of the year was recorded.

The Hawk got the best of the send off and was leading when the open water of Ipswich Bay was reached. The first leg was a beat to the outer buoy in the bay and the fleet determined to split tacks, one chancing the Essex shore for wind, the other taking the port tack to Plum Cove. Those that went over toward Coffin's Beach got the worst of the luck and the Plum Cove division headed by the Albatross, Tern and Archaeoperix succeeded in working up to the mark and rounding first. Just here the wind died down completely for fifteen minutes. The second leg was a reach to Plum Cove and the third a run home, both of which were negotiated lazily with no changes in the relative positions of the boats as they turned at the outer mark. The Archaeoperix which finished third withdrew having fouled the Scat. The summary:

Who's Who For 1917

Latest Edition of The North Shore Social Register A Work of Great Merit

"Who's Who Along the North Shore" for 1917 has been issued by the Salem Press Company and as usual is the authoritative register of the "noteworthy, fashionable and wealthy residents along the North Shore" carefully revised and up-to-date.

It contains a complete directory of the principal North Shore sections, including all Cape Ann, Beach Bluff, Beverly, Beverly Cove, Beverly Farms, Clifton, Hamilton, Manchester, Marblehead, Montserrat, Mystery Island, Nahant, Pride's Crossing, Swampscott, Topsfield, Ipswich and Wenham with the town and country addresses and other family information of the residents and cottagers—several thousand in number.

Mechanically, the book is a fine specimen of the printers' art. To the summer resident along the shore as well as for those who have business with them this work is of the greatest value and is deserving of a place in every home among those to whom it makes an appeal.

It is arranged in convenient manner, section by section with a general index of names greatly facilitating its use. It will be sent postpaid by its publishers, the Salem Press, Salem, Mass. on receipt of the price, $2.00 per copy.
